Dear Stas:

Many thanks for your note of 25 June. I should be delighted to be considered for membership in the Society of Colonial Wars, and if you will let me know what further action I should take, I will be glad to do it.

Sincerely,

Dear Allie:

As you know, your late brother was for many years a valued member of this Society, and I am writing to invite you to consider membership for yourself. John Hughes, Reg Townsend and many other friends of yours are on our roster, and entirely apart from the personal satisfaction and pleasure such membership would offer you it would ensure a gratifying continuance of your family name on our rolls.

I am sending you one of our membership lists as well as a bulletin of pertinent information for prospective members and I hope you will find both of them of interest. Of course the same genealogical data as used by your brother would serve you, which will greatly simplify matters.

I will deeply appreciate the privilege of sponsoring your nomination for membership, and await your further advices with interest.

Sincerely,
